DETAILED ACTION

In view of the Appeal Brief filed on July 7, 2006, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new grounds of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 4, 5, 7, 8 and 12-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Black (US 4,185,846) in view of Clark et al (US 6,476,603).

Art Unit: 3617

Black discloses a creeper comprised of a body 10, generally shown in figure 1, having a support feature disposed on the top surface. The support features are comprised of a backrest 12 and seat member 13. The backrest 12 can be raised and lowered to support the user at various heights, so that the user can accomplish various tasks. The creeper 10 is further comprised of a plurality of wheels that engage with a pair of rails 16 mounted on the ground below the creeper 10. The wheels are best shown in figures 2 and 3 and also in figure 8. At each corner of the creeper there is a set of wheels, comprising four wheels. Two wheels engage the top surface of the rail while two wheels engage either side of the rail. The wheels on the creeper allow for movement of the creeper along the rails 16 and the rails may be moved along the ground by the user to extend the range of the creeper.

Black discloses the wheeled creeper as described above. However, Black does not disclose the used of flanged wheels on the creeper. Clark et al discloses a carriage having a plurality wheels for engaging rails. Each wheel has a flange on either side to engage the sides of the rails and hold the carriage steady on the rails. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used wheels, like those found in Clark et al, as a teaching to show that rail engaging wheels, like that of Black would better engage the rails with flanges on either side. The flanges would allow for better stability and control of the creeper as the user moved along the rails, especially with the support structure raised so the user can work above.
